GRAMMAR

OF THE

SANSCRIT LANGUAGE,

Coring of Fort Milliam

BY H. T. COLEBROOKE, Efg.

VOLUME- I.

CALCUTTA!

PRINTED AT THE HONORABLE COMPANY'S PRESS.

PREFACE.

AVING accepted an honorable nomination to the post of Professor of the Sanscrit language in the College of Fort William, early after the foundation of that useful institution, I felt it incumbent on me, to furnish, through the press, the means of studying a language, which it was my duty to make known, but on which I had no intention of delivering oral instruction.

Amone other undertakings adapted to this purpose, the publication of a Sanferst grammar was commenced; which was first intended to be brief and elementary; but of which the design has been enlarged in its progress. As the entire work will exceed the bounds of a single volume, a convenient break has been chosen to close the first; and a few remarks will be now prefixed to it, since a considerable time may elapse, before the second volume be completed. I have the less scruple, in pausing upon this work, to devote my attention to other duties, because the desicient part of it may be supplied by the grammars, which Mr. Forster and Mr. Carey will severally publish.

In the composition of this grammar, I have followed the system taught by writers, whose works are considered by the prevailing feets of Hindus to be facred, and to form an appendage of their scriptures. My reasons for preferring these to the popular or prophane treatises on grammar, were stated in an essay on the Sansonia language inserted in the seventh volume of the Asiatick Researches. I adhere to the opinion there expressed. The sacred grammar has been more cultivated, its agreement with ancient writings and classical authors has been more carefully verified, than any other grammar of the language: it is more usually cited, and more generally understood: and, as sinally corrected by a long train of commentators, it is more accurate and complete.

The arrangement, indeed, is ill adapted to facilitate study; both in the original work, and in the numerous illustrations of it. But I thought it practicable to frame a grammar upon the same system, which should be easily intelligible to the English student of Sanscrit. Without believing, that I have succeeded, I still think it to be practicable: and the difficulties, which may be experienced in the following pages, will in general be found owing merely to the want of examples; which have been omitted, under the apprehension of rendering the work too voluminous.

An improvement, which has been recently effected in the types of the Nágari character, by reducing their fize, without diminishing their distinctines, has removed the objection to ample illustrations by examples: and, if this work should be reprinted, examples of every rule will accordingly be inserted; and, at all events, they will be retained in the second volume of this grammar.

On the same supposition of a new edition of this first volume, I should be desirous of altering some of the terms adopted by me in place of technical words in Sanfer it grammar. An unwillingness to coin new words in English, led me to use some expressions, which are not sufficiently precise; others were selected by me, not anticipating objections to their use, which have since occurred: and, in some instances, I have madvertently changed an appropriate term for one less suitable. The most material intended changes are mentioned in the margin. and the reader is requested to notice them.

I shall be likewise glad to have an opportunity of inserting the original rules of Sanscrit grammar. They are usually committed to memory by native students of the language; and are cited by Sanscrit authors, in words, and not by reference to their place or their import. The knowledge of them is, therefore, material to the student of Sanscrit; and they are framed, like the aphorisms of other [•] Letters, added by Sanferst gram narians, as marks, but which are not fou ded, nor retained in the inflections, are called by them Instant ba or It, which, in this grammar, has been translated mute but the circumstance of fu h vowels being accented, leads to the inconfidency of speaking of accented mute vovels. They would be better designated by the word makestery.

A class of derivative verbs, which in a former treatife I denominated Freg ericlites, has been here named Intenfets On confideration, I revert to the first mentioned term

Under the head of 'senser, I have used the word Aorust to lignify indifinite in respect to a species of time, instead of indefinite as to time in general the name of Remote post is not sufficiently descriptive of the import of the tense to which it has been assigned, and several others are open to a similar remark. I wish, therefore, to change the names of the tenses, according to the following scheme.

^{1.} Prefent

^{2.} Preterre unpercented (Remove pail.)

³ Craftine fu'ure (Absolute future.)

⁴ Indefin te future . (Aorist future)

fciences among the Hindus, with studied and ingenious brevity.

THE author of these grammatical aphorisms is PA'N'INI. His rules, with the annotations of Catyayana entitled Várticas, confirmed or corrected by Patanjali in the Mahábháshya, constitute the standard of Sanser grammar. From the three saints, as Hindu grammarians affect to call them, there is no appeal. Other authorities may be admitted, where they are silent: but a deviation even by a classical or an ancient writer, from a rule in which they concur, is deemed either a poetical license or a privileged barbarism.

THE works of these facred writers, with the notes of CALYYATA on the Mahábháshya, interpreted by his scholiasts. and more especially the perpetual commentary of VAMANA on Pa'n'ini's aphorisms, under the title of Cás'wáwitti, elucidated by the copious annotations of HARADATTA MIS'RA in 'the Padamanjari, are the basis of the grammar here printed. The Sidd'hanta Caumudi, and Manorami of BHATTO'II'. with their commentaries, have been frequently consulted by me. Much use has also been made of the Pracriya Caumudi with its commentaries the Prasada and Tatwa Chandra: and I have continually referred to MAITRE'YA, MA'D'HAVA, Vo'PADE'VA, and the other interpreters of Sanfert roots. A reader, who may be defirous of verifying my authorities, should be apprized, that the Casicá vritti, Sidd'hánta Caumudí, and Mád'haríya vritti have been my chief guides: and that others, besides the books here enumerated, have been occasionally consulted; as the Ganaratna mahódad'hi, the Vivili fangraha, and the commentators on the Paribháshás; and fometimes, though rarely, the popular grammars.

For the maniformation of the Sanforit student, a list, of these and other grammatical works will be subjoined, including many treatises which have not been used for this grammar; but none, which I do not know to be extant; and sew, of which I do not actually possess complete copies. The list might have been greatly enlarged by adding the names of books quoted by undoubted authorities: and I shall only remark, in regard to such works, that the eight earliest grammarians are expressly stated by Voyade'va, to have been Indra, Chandra, Cas'acritsna, Apisale, S'a'cata'yana, Pa'n'ini, Amera, and Jaine'ndra: Among these Pan'ini remains; and some of the others: perhaps, all.

The authorities, which have been mentioned by me, as generally followed in this grammar, differ materially in their arrangement. I have been guided fometimes by one, fometimes by another, as feemed best adapted to the two objects proposed, conciseness and perspicuity. I am apprehensive, that, in the pursuit of both objects, one has frequently been missed. It was, however, with the view of compressing much grammatical information in a small compass, that paradigmas have been multiplied, but exhibited in a succinct form; and that general rules only are usually inserted in the text, while exceptions and special rules are placed in the notes.

I HAVE admitted no remarks on general grammar, though fuggested by the numerous peculiarities of Sanserut. These, with the observations which occur on a comparison of the ancient language of India with those of Europe, are deserred until the completion of the work. In the mean time, one fingularity of the Sanferit language may be noticed: its admitting both the ancient and the modern fystems of grammatical structure. It abounds in inslections for cases and genders; tenses and persons: and it also admits a simple construction of indeclinable nouns with prepositions, and of participles with auxiliary verbs.

This remark anticipates on a part of the grammar, referved for the second volume; in which composition and fyntax will be explained, with other matters indicated in the note subjoined to the table of Contents of the first volume.

A corrous table of corrections and emendations is added. Though confiderable attention was bestowed on the correction of the work at the press, some errors unavoidably escaped notice; for which the best apology is to take the earliest opportunity of marking for emendation such of them as have been yet observed.

When conforants are not separated by intervening vowels, they are termed conjunct (संयोग). This may be signified by affixing to the prior consonants the mark abovementioned; but it is more usual to employ compound characters denoting such conjunct conforants; as in the following table.

Homogeneous Etiments are those which are referred to the same organ of speech, and uttered by the same mode of articulation, as in the first part of this table. Congenial elements, not homogeneous, are determined from the second part of it

The nasal conformants are \overline{z} , \overline{z} , \overline{z} , \overline{z} , and \overline{z} ; but the semivowels \overline{z} , \overline{z} and \overline{z} are sometimes nasal and two of the semivowels, \overline{z} and \overline{z} , are in some circumstances articulated with entire relaxation of every part of the tongue, and this is denominated a short utterance of them.

SECTION VI.

· LENGTHS AND TONES OF THE VOWELS.

N B. When a vowel is mentioned in a rile of grammar, the homogeneous elements (that is, all the tones and lengths of it) are included in the rule, unless it be refinited, by the letter η subjoined, to the particular length exhibited.

				अनुना	सेक्ड or s	nafal.

मुन:Continuous	ऋां३	ञ्रा३	ৠ৾৾₹	र्झा ३	ॐा३	ॐा३

The lengths and tones of the other vowels are fimilarly diffinguished.

But लु is not long but continuous, and ए, ऐ, ओ, and औ, are never thort, but either long or continuous,

A fhort vowel occupies one moment (AIII); a long vowel, two, and the continuous found, or that which is prolonged as in calling to any one, lasts for three moments: but a confonant, when destitute of a vowel, is measured by half a matra. These durations of sound are compared by the grammarian, in his treatise on pronunciation, to the cries of the late, crow, peacock, and ichneumon.

A long vowel (ইবি) and a continuous one (মুন) are in profody long (মুহ); and a fhort one (হ্ৰা) is in profody fhort (ত্ৰু), unless it be followed by a conjunct or double confonant, for in that case it becomes profodially long (মুহ). A letter prolated by the nose and mouth (the breath being made to pass through both organs) is nasal (হ্ৰানুনামিক). Any other is নিহ্নুনামিকঃ, or not rasal

Though the tones of vowels are not regarded in common speech, but only in the recitation of the Veda, and in some other instances, an explanation of the tones may be here inserted, because it may help to clucidate the accents of other languages. A vowel taken high (that is, articulated near the upper part of the appropriate organ of speech, with effort for its utterance, by a sharp stroke of the voice, and by a contraction of the aperture of the throat,) is shamed strike appropriate organ of speech, with a relaxation of effort for its utterance, by a gentle stroke of the voice, and great expansion of the aperture of the throat) is strike and of the voice, and great expansion of the aperture of the throat) is strike. One, which unites both tones, is strike and the sirth semiprice, or helf a matra, is high, and the remainder of such a vowel low, if a strike or strike follow else it is sounded like a high vowel. In common recitation the tone of the vowels is uniform (strike strike).

SECTION VII.

GUNA AND VRIDD'HI LETTERS.

Two defignations of certain vowels should be here noticed as of very extensive use.

आ, ऐ and औ are called वृद्धिः अ, ए and ओ are named गुण:

N B When a vowel (অাড়) আ, ই তা ও is fublituted for না, হ is fublomed, when fuch a vowel is fublituted for লা, লা follows Thus the বৃদ্ধি fublitute for লা is আলা; for না, আহে so the মুজঃ fublitute for লা is অলা; and for না, is আহে.

CHAPTER II.

ON THE PARTS OF SPEECH AND ON THE KEY TO THE RULES OF GRAMMAR.

SECTION I.

The roots of the Sanfer it language are crude verbs (ষাত্ৰ) and perhaps part cles (নিমান). All nouns without exception, fay fome grammarians, or with few according to others may be deduced by rules of etymology from fome crude verb, although the acceptation frequently deviate from the etymology. The diadius, or crude verbs, are contained in a catalogue, at the head of which is placed H to be. Thefe, and their derivatives (or any fignificant found however derived) being in field with the figns of perfons or cafes, are denominated words (पद).

[•] The suff clive root, or that to whea the affix is subjoined, is named 🖼π:.

- 2. Prepositions that are enumerated in a list, at the head of which stands I. They are employed, like prepositions in other languages, to form compound verbs by prefixing them to dhatus, and also in composition with nouns. Other particles, which might be called interjections, conjunctions, and adverbs, are placed in a separate list, wherein the first term is I "and" These are indeclinable (INII); and so are certain nouns contained in a catalogue, wherein I heaven is the first term. The indeclinables are nevertheless "words" within the terms of the desimition: for the affixes are understood, a blank having been substituted for them, without affecting the radical term.
 - 3 Crude nouns are denominated प्राविपदिक; for this is defined "a fignificant found, not yet inflected, but other than a crude verb." Prorouns, being subject to special rules, are distinguished by the appellation of सर्वनाम or universal names ± Adjectives need not be distinguished otherwise, than as nouns, signifying qualities and inflected in three genders. These nouns, whether substantives, adjectives, of pronouns, are declined through three numbers with seven cases.
 - 4 Ve-bs, whether fimple, or compound, radical or derivative, are conjugated through the active and paffive voices, and form through a middle voice also, in ten moods and tenses, with three persons and three numbers. The derivative verbs are causals, defideratives, reciprocals, &c derived immediately from verbs, besides others deduced from nouns conjugated for certain significations.
 - 5 From the verbs are derived nouns, which correspond to the infimitives, participles, gerunds and supines, of other languages, besides nouns of action, &c. The terminations, that diffinguish such derivatives, ⁺ उपस्रभीः Thef with fine others are allo denominated गति.

Trey are enumerated in a lift, at the head of which flared HT all. It comprehends two of the nationals (सिंदनी).

e litings, in crid by a denor na sor, are accreting to grammanan, a kird, a quality, as a first, or af bounce. A noun, which I genies the quility still, is reflected to its own good to but the time word, or a denorance, denoting that which post-first both a quality, rance with the genies of the fully file.

are called जून and the derivatives themselves जूदनः. A few are indeclinable; but most are insected.

- 6. From nouns again are derived others, corresponding with the patronymicks, comparatives, superlatives, &c. of other languages. The terminations of these are named नाउन; and the derivatives are thence denominated. A few of them are indeclinable; and the rest are declinable. Besides these, the terminations, affixed for the purpose of deducing a seminine noun from one of another gender, form derivatives of another class.
 - 7. Compound terms are formed at pleasure according to rules, which are copiously laid down for that purpose. They are denominated RATH, and constitute one more class of derivative nouns.

SECTION II.

1. The changes, which terms, or fignificant founds (NZ), undergo by rules of etymology, or orthography, are effected by fublioning, fub-flitting, or inferting, one or more elements. What is added for the purpose of inflection, is denominated (NAZ) an affix, I and what is η If is conflit of a lingle letter (either originally, or after rejecting mute letters), it is called 국가구요.

Affixes and the reft often contain mute letters; for 60 may be termed letters that are denominated হল, and for which therefore a blank is to be fublished. Such are final confonants, no all vowels, and the initial hyllables নি, হু 'and ই, 'contained in an elementary term (उपदेश) or (as the old grammarians interpreted the word), in an aphoritin of grammar (स्त्र), or a corrective rule (स्तितिक), in a crude verb (स्तित), in grammastical catalogues of terms (गण), in the furplementary rules of etymology (उणादि), and of gender. - 2. In the findied concilencis of aphorifms of grammar, their application, especially that of rules respecting substitution, is often obscure and ambiguous unless affished by the key to their interpretation. To clucidate them, the most effential maxims, which have not been here indicated in the note, are collected in the next section.
- 3. It is necessary to remark, that many special rules, or exceptions, are optional: when therefore an exception or inhibition admits of an ilternative, this is denoted by the term of all the or by other expressions of similar import, such as all, and the true, &c. or the option is intimated by stating the rule as resling upon the authority of a single grammarian

SECTION III.

- 1. Among feveral elements comprehended under one defignation, in a rule for the substitution of elements, that, which is most similar, must be selected; especially one, which is congenial according to the organs of speech. Thus the homogeneous (刊刊) leave will be preferred, if it answer the conditions of the rule; in other instances, a congenial one (到刊刊); or in others again, the similarity of length or measure must be regarded; and sometimes the analogy of the meaning of terms will be followed; for instance, in substituting a masculine noun for a seminine one.
 - 2. Two fets of terms equally numerous, one containing primary terms, the other fublidiary, are correlative in their order: the first of one set corresponds with the first of the other, the second with the second, and so forth. It should be remarked that here, and in most other instances, the substitute inherits the designations of the original, and is similar to it (र्यानिवर्); excepting so far as regards changes that dep.nd on the particular letters, which the original contained.

- 3. When a short vowel must be substituted for a diphthong, it shall be an उन् vowel, (इ for ए or ऐ; and उ for ओ) or ओ).
- 4. When a JUI or JE letter is to be substituted under these denominations, without special restriction, it shall be substituted for an JE vowel contained in the term: sometimes however, by special rule, such a setter is the substitute for the first vowel, or for a diphthong. So, when a short, a long, or a continuous vowel, is to be substituted, it is put instead of the vowel contained in the term.
- s. A vowel (३क) fublituted, or to be fublituted, for a femivowel (यए), is denominated संप्रसार्ण.
 - 6. A penultimate letter is called उपश्च; and the last vowel, with subsequent conformants if any there be, is denominated ??.
 - 7. That by which, as a refluidive term, a particular operation is directed, implies, befides itself, the whole term ending therein. (Ex. १२] i. c. The affix [3] Ihall be subjoined, for a certain fignification, to 3; meaning to a term ending in 3).*

Another inflance of the use of this arrangement must be a so roticed. A precept, contained in the three last sections of Pa's '1813's eighth beduce, is as it were null, so far as regards a preceding one s and consequently does not preventitube operation of a preceding rule, which would have been otherwise applicables nor give it effect, if it were not applicable previously to the operation of such subsequent precept.

In the application of rules of grammar, various difficulties occur, for which no provision has been made by PAN (1811, CATA YANA, and PATANJAL), vabole works, the Estran Fartiest, and Mildings, conflicte the grammar of the language. Here seconsfe must be take to the maxims (पहिंभाषा) of other authorities. Their maxims may be therefore conflicted as a fourth portion of the grammar and the most important of them will be cited as occasion may occur.

Some difficulties fill remains and the commentators meet them by various expedients; among others, by that of rendering many rules vague and indefinite in their application. As the rules are maximus are very obscure, the girlfus of the remarcus commentators are for this retion lakewise necessity conclude; thy also ferre for the correction of each other. The approved pradice of good authors is in fall the trift of grammar and the roles, emendations, expositions, maxim, and gloffs are employed metrly to tested what eflabilised using fordiers.

[•] It is necessity to observe, in regard to the original rules of grammur as arranged in PA'N'MA's right lectures, that the order, in which they are placed, is essential to the understanding of thems for terms, contained in preceding rules, are often understood in those which follow (as in the rule cited by whay of example in the last pangraph): and a subsequent rule, inconsistent with a former one of equal feope, is in general an exception to it; though sometimes the preference must be given to that rule, which bets answers the purpose.

CHAPTER III.

PERMUTATION OF LETTERS IN COMPOSITION.

SECTION I.

The disjurction of letters is denominated अवसानै; and is marked by a paufe, but the proximity of letters without an intermediate paufe, or, in flort, their junction, is named संहिता or संशि:.

This proximaly requires rules for the permutation of letters to obviate diffornices within the word, and in compound terms.

Such rules must be carefully attended to, because they are very effential to etymology, and are rigidly observed by poets and good authors, not only within the word, but also within the verse or the sentence.

Those precepts, which are peculiar to etymology, will be mostly cited, as occasion arises, in the subsequent chapters. But such, as are more general, affecting the orthography of contiguous terms, are collected in the present chapter, with some precepts of limited use suggested by the general rules. The most impostant are exhibited in the text; the rest are transferred to the margin

SECTION II. .

PERMUTATION OF VOWELS.

i. When a simple vowel (स्वें) is followed by a homogeneous one, a single long vowel (द्विचे) shall be substituted for both.

Ex. देखारिः demons foe (दैन्य जिरः); दश्चीह curds here (दिव + रह); आन्द्यः funs rife (भागु + उद्यः) *

2: If আ (or আ), be followed by a heterogeneous vowel, a fingle guna element shall be substituted for both; but; if it be followed by a diphthong (ইন), the substitute shall be a Vriddhi element. ম Ex. নাইই

when I follows I or Q. However, the fhort vowel, when this is so substituted for two, must be prosodially long; for the two coalecting semivowels. The cach equal to half a short vowel, and, together with the single substituted short vowel, by which they are affected, are in prosodial length equivalent to one long vowel. So the two semivowels with one short vowel, are equivalent to a long yowel.

When a prepolition ending in 到 (or 到), is followed by a verb beginning with 它 or 到 (or 到), a single element, the same with the last, is substituted for both vowels. But the 是是 element is substituted for both vowels, when 到 (or 到) is followed by the verb 它有 (我们 to move_), or by 它 to grow, or by the substitute 是是 (Ch. 11. 5. 4).

When a term ending in 到 (or 到) is followed by 它可 (called it fignisty receively).

this is thine (तव+रद); गंगीदक Ganges water (गंगा+उदक); नवेषा this is thine (तव+र्षा); नवदिन thy boiled rice (तव + श्रीदन); नवदिः thy wealth (तव+स्थिः). For र must be subjoined (Ch. 1: § 7) after a common vowel substituted for श्री (and ल after one substituted for ल); and a consonant may be doubled (§ iii. 5.) after r preceded by a vowel.

3. If (उन्) any other simple vowel, but आ, be followed by a heterogeneous vowel, a semivowel (याण), the most congenial to it, shall be substituted viz. य for उ (or उ); и for з (or उ); и for з (or उ); и for з (or з); и for a fingle element, the faine with the last of them, is substituted for both - Lie. हो देशोह्यर where witt thou cat?

In certain compounds, and derivatives, as NAG (from NA name of a country and NA name of a country and NA a vielt) &c. the E portion of one term (Ch. 2. & iii 6.), together with the initial of the other, is permeted to a fingle element, the time with the lift.

This may be done in a compound, when आ is followed by the term आन a car, or ओए the lip. En.; विमीए (red lip.

When आ (or आ) is followed by the pertiale 刻井, or by 刻蒙 (刻), a fingle element, the fame with the last, is substituted for both. Ex. 朝南侯 (家田, 刻, 汉侯) O Sing come. (S. E. 2. 刻中天= C.)

[·] In imitation marticulate founds, if 知有, be followed by 表情, a fingle element, the same with the litter, is subflutured for both; unless the first were a monofpliable. Ex. पटिनि (पटन+রि) paint; thus it founds. But, if such an imitative found to repeated, substitution may take place with the final of the repeated term. Ex. पटन्पटिवित or = टेरिंग (Sometimes, however, -टिनि).

(§ 111 Note ); and there are consequently sour modes of orthography in such instances, as the foregoing, viz by doubling both the consonant and the semivowel, or either of them, or neither. (It is however usual to double the consonant, and not the semivowel) But any consonant, except 夏, is usually doubled after 夏; and sometimes after 夏 (§ 111 5) Lx 和祖司, or 和祖司, Gaurí here (和朝中田); 可根据, or 可提展, is not (可愿中联报).

4 When a diphthong (एच्) is followed by a vowel, or by a diphthong (even by a homogeneous one), अय् shall be substituted for ए अव् for ओ ; आय् for ऐ; and आवृ for औ .† Ex नयन (ने+अन) eye, भवनि (भो+अनि) is; नायवः (नै+अक) director पावनः (पौ+अन) sire.

5 When a diphthong (एउ) ए or ओ, being final of a word, is followed by a short आ, a single letter, similar to the first, is substituted

[•] अव is substituted for ओ, and आव for ओ, before an affix the initial et shinch is य. But this is option I in certa in inflances, and refinited in others, and the analogy is followed in's me examples of the other of phthones. Ex गर्या butter, &c. गर्यातः solver solversolves. अर्थ to be conquirable (contradifungus shed from अर्थ to be sold)

¹ Aril and of a word, a bla k may be fabilitate of for य or य following अ or आ, if the nex void begin with (अश्) any letter but a hard conformat or fibilitie. En त्यागताः or त आगताः (ते+आगताः) those bring arrived तस्मायतत् or तस्माएतत् (तस्मे+एतत्) there to that ताविमो or ता उमो (ती+उमो) those two, these two,

- 6. If (র্ক্) a simple vowel, excepting আ, be the final of a word, and be followed by a heterogeneous vowel or diphthong (আই), it may be retained instead of substituting the semivowel, and the short vowel may in this instance be substituted for a long one Ex অর্রা আর, or আর, or আর, or অর্রা, the god, that is armed with a discus, is here But, within the word, or in a compound term, no such option is admitted that the word of the state of the same of the same
- 7. A continuous vowel is unalterable, though a vowel follow in composition, and so, are certain vowels denominated THE in certain circumstances. Viz $3 and $\overline{V}$ being final in the dual number, $\overline{A}$ and $\overline{V}$ losing final in the dual number, $\overline{A}$ and $\overline{V}$ following $\overline{H}$ in the inflections of the pronoun $\overline{A}$ $\overline{A}$ this, or terminating a word that bears the sense of the locative case, a particle confish-

It should be remarked, that a single letter, substituted for two, is considered as the sinal of one term, and the initial of the other.

⁺ मी may be retained unaltered when the diphthong is final in the word, if the next term begin with a thort आ; or अवड् (अव) may be fulfil titled for that final, before any vowel but this अव mut be to tubilitured when रहि, or अही, follows Ex गवाहा

ing of a fingle vowel, except In certain acceptations; in being the final of a particle, and a few other instances

- 8 When a paule, or disjunction of letters, follows a common vowel (आण्=आ, उ or उ), provided this be not denominated प्रमुद्धा, the correspondent rafal vowel may be substituted for it E_{κ} द्धि [or दिश्व] curd
- '9 Befides thefe, which are the most effential rules for the permutation of vowels, others, which are either special rules or exceptions, or which have been here only hinted, must be learnt by practice, or by reference to the grammar at large.

SECTION III.

PER-MUTA,TION OF CONSONANTS.

- 1 When conjunct confonants terminate a word, the last element of the conjunct shall be expunged unless \(\mathbb{T}\) be the preceding element, for \(\mathbb{T}\), is the only letter, for which a blank must be substituted after \(\mathbb{T}\), when it is final Examples will be frequent among the declensions
- 2 If a nafal or femivowel (यम्), including हू, be preceded by a confonant (हल्), and also followed by the like nafal or femivowel (यम्), it may be expunged Ex आदित्यं or आदित्यं folar
- J When a hard or fost confonant, or a fibilant (전文), is preceded by a confo ant, and followed by a homogeneous hard or fost confonant, or fibilant, it may be expunged (and it usually is fo) Lx 자료, 자료를, 자료를, 아 자료를 (제문제 wind + 전 but). Excluding feminowel and rated confonant (রয়) fhall be fubflututed. and fo it final, if a foft confonant (রয়) follow But the hard-unafpirated confonant (রয়) fhall be fubflututed for fuch a confonant, if a fibilant or hard confonant (ময়) follow: and a fimiliar fubflutution may be made, if a paufe, or disjunction of letters, follow. La বাষ্যা the speech is thus (বার্মযা); মনিবার্মন placing of facred fuel (মনিষ্মার্মার); মর্মা honey here (ময়+স্মার); মান্য thing to be split (মুর্মনার্য); বার্

- 6. According to one authority duplication does not take place, if the conjunct already confiss of three or more consonants. Ex. 可定。 the moon. According to another ancient grammarian, it always must be omitted. Ex. 可见了 hides. And even those, who maintain the cogency of the preceding rules, do not allow such duplication after a long vowel. Ex. 可知 a vessel.
- 7. स्, being contiguous to श्रु, or to a palatine confonant (चन्ग), is changed to श्रु. The fame, being contiguous to प्, or to a cerebral confonant (ट्रेन्ग), is changed to प्रु. So a dental confonant (तन्ग), being contiguous to a palatine (चन्ग), or preceding (not following) श्रु, is changed to the correspondent palatine (त to च्; श्रू to छ &c.); and being contiguous to a cerebral (ट्रेन्ग), or following (not preceding) प्, it is changed to the correspondent cerebral (त to ट्, ट्र to इ &c.). But neither स्, nor त् &c. (त्र्यो), become cerebral after ट् &c.  - 8. When छ follows a dental confonant (तवर्ग), a nafal छ shall be substituted for such dental letter. Ex. विद्यालुखित the wife man is writing.

SECTION IV.

- 1. अनुसार shall be substituted for म, when this is the final of a word, and a consonant follows *. Ex. तंहसनि he laughs at him (तम्+हसति).
- 2 The same shall be substituted for ন, or for ম, not being final of a word, when followed by a hard or soft consonant, or sibilant, or ছ (মন্ত্ৰ). Ex. ধন্মি bows.
- 3 When (यम्) any confonant, except ह and fibilants, follows अनुसार (within a word), this is changed to the letter that is homogeneous to fuch subsequent consonant; or may be so changed, if it be the final of a word+. Ex. अड्डिनः marked, लंकरोषि or लड्डरोषि thou dost

The word समाद, an emperor, retains म unaltered. And H may be retained before of followed by H; and it may be transformed into T before the fam- followed by this mild, and into U, I, and R respectively before of followed by these seminourels.

4. If a word, ending in इ., ण or न् (इ.म.) preceded by a fliort vowel, be followed by one beginning with a vowel, a fimilar nafal confonant must be prefixed to fuch initial vowel. Ex कुर्वशासी he fits doing *.

5. स is in general substituted for विसर्जनीय, when a hard confonant or a fibilant (सर्) follows that is, it may be so if a fibilant (शर्) follow, or a blank may be substituted, if the sibilant be sollowed by a hard consonant. but the जिहामूलीय and उपभानीय elements may

Ex. नवर्ष thy parasol (§ 111 7). The same is affixed to a long vowel (दीर्च) when of sollows, or it may be affixed, if that vowel were final, but, it must be so, after the preposition आ; and negative मा. Lx स्ट इंड a barbarian, न्यांद्वाया or न्यांद्वाया shade of a house, आ हिंदिया he clethes. (But श्रा is sabstituted for of together with the preceding augment न before certain consonants. - This is subject to numerous exceptions, in some of which \(\frac{\pi}{4}\) is substituted instead of these elements, or instead of \(\frac{\pi}{4}\), before the guttural and labial letters.
- 1. In 不概: "who and who" and in certain other words, 祇 is retained, inflead of fabilituting 以; in certain others, ឬ is fabilituted for 百礼和 following (知); any semivowel, or vowel except 到.
- 2. In general स् 15 substituted for विसर्ग before the guttural and labal consonants, when in these are not initial (Ex. प्रयम्पाइं bad milk). Other instances of the substitution of to, like many other rules which have been either omitted, or only hinted in this chapter, will be found in the subsequent chapters, or may be sought in the original grammar at large.

To show the intricacy of the many rules of orthography, the reterved name of the language may be adduced, for the word Sanferitz may be we tten many different ways and Sanferitz, another derivative of the fame root, is correctly written no lefs than a hundred and eight different ways, by optionally making the last wowel nasal (if a nases of low), by optionally doubling, or tripling, the s, and optionally doubling the s, and either making the first wowel nasal, or inferring anasonous, before ru substituted for m before the interpolated s (for E is substituted for M of HH, when it is prefixed, as it here is, to the werb D); by substituting s for v farga deduced from ru, and expunging it on the authority of some grammarians, or retaining it, or even doubling it, before the interpolated s, and by optionally doubling anasonomy (for this, like v sarga and arthoussays, is comprehended among wowels, and also among fuliant conformants). But, by applying rules of orthography somewhat differently, the various modes of writing this word have been compared at twenty four, with a single or double, with s single or double for, according to an obsidete grammar of the linguage, without either the nasal or an stars but doubling the interpolated s, together who, and s, or any one, or any two, or none of them!

TABLE OF AFFIXES FOR THE INFLECTION OF NOUNS, IN SEVEN CASES, AND THREE NUMBERS.

N.B. ज्, श्रू, ट्, ड़, and प्, are here mute, and so is उ in सुं, but not in सुंप्.

[•] This is likewise named 刻意. The whole twenty-one affixes are denominated 其真;
the five first, from 된 to 刻之, 現之; and the second and fish, 刻意; the last fitteen, from 己 (or 刻意) to 現真, are called 刻具.

These denominations are formed, like the Prosymbars deduced from Stra's Sattes (Ch. $t \in v$), by the rule, that a preceding term, with a subsequent mute element $\{\Xi_{\vec{n}}\}$, is a denomination of itself, as well as of the in emediate terms.

SECTION II.

TERMINATIONS OF THE CASES, AS DEDUCED FROM THE A F F I X E S.

N B The cocative (संवोधन or आमञ्जित) is the fame with the nominative, except the cocative fingular (संवृद्धि) which varies in main inflances

SECTION III.

PERMUTATIONS OF THE AFFIXES.

1 (1), deduced from E (1st fing), is convertible, as mother in flances, unto 5, &c (Ch 3 & n 6) at the end of the word. It is fibjoined in the fingular of the nominative case to most nouns ending in vowels.

- 2. \(\bar{\bar{\bar{\psi}}}, \) reduced to a fingle element (and that a confonant); is expunged after a term ending in a confonant, or in a vowel deduced from the ferminne affixes \(\bar{\psi} \) or \(\bar{\psi} \bar{\psi} \bar{\psi} \) (Ch 14), provided fuch vowel be long (fee Ch 6. §. i. 5). The fame is expunged in the vocative fingular after a crude noun ending in \(\bar{\psi} \) or \(\bar{\psi} \bar{\psi} \) or in a fhort vowel.
- 3. A blank (নুরু) is substituted for ম and অম (iff 2d. sing) following an inflective root in the neuter gender, but অম after such a root ending in a short আ; and আর্ডু (আর্) after certain pronouns (viz. those terminated by তুন্য &c. Ch. 5. § 10)
- 4 आ, deduced from ओ and औट् (1st ad du.), is subjoined in the dual of the nominative, vocative and objective cases, to most nouns; but भी (ई) is substituted for those affixes (औड़्) following a noun ending in आ deduced from आए (Ch 14), or any neuter insective root.
 - 5. 现代, deduced from 开代 and 现代 (ift ad pl), is subjoined in the plural of the nominative, vocative and objective cases, to most nouns * but fn (玄) is substituted for those affixes following a neuter inflective root and 刻 is substituted for 开代 following any other inflective root of a pronoun ending in 到。
 - 6. আ, deduced from বা or আৰু (3d. fing), is subjoined in the fingular of the caufative case to most nouns; but হব is substituted for this

[•] The final H is, as what, convertise sets & &c bes, in the meleuline gender, I is fundament for the final of IH following a long vowel, that has been finally fublitue d for the coalefting vo, et of the coat and affin (for § 10).

affix after an inflective 1001 ending in आ; and ना, after a term denominated वि (१ v 3), unless in the feminine gender

- 7 So E, deduced from $\frac{1}{5}$ (4th fing), is subjoined in the singular of the dative cise to most nouns, but $\frac{1}{4}$ is substituted for that affix, sollowing an inflective 100t ending in $\frac{1}{4}$, unless this be a pronoun, for $\frac{1}{4}$ is the substitute in such an instance
- 8 अस, deduced from इसि and इस (5th 6th ling), is fub joined in the fingular of the ablative and relative cases, to most nouns of but आत् is substituted for इसि, and स्य for इसे, following in inflective root ending in आ. However स्मान् is the substitute for इसि, if such inslective root be a pronoun
- 9 ३, deduced from इ (7th fing), is subjoined in the singular of the locative case to most nouns but सिन् is substituted for that assis sold lowing the inflective root of a pronoun in आ; and आम is the substitute after नी, and after an inflective root ending in आ deduced from आई (Ch 14), or whose termination is denominated नदी (§ 13) आम is also the substitute after 3 or 3 denominated नदी; but औन (औ) is the substitute after the same letters not so denominated, and assis term denominated वि (§ 13) but here wishall be substituted for the sinal of the crude noun
 - 10 আ (আই) is prefixed to an affix diffinguished by a mute হ (4th 5th 6th 7th fing) when subjoined to an inslective root, the term nation of which is denominated নহা (६ v 3) and যা (যাই) is prefixed to such an affix subjoined to an inslective root terminated by সা

deduced from आंप (Ch 14), but स्या (स्याट्ट) is the prefix of fuch an affix subjoined to a pronoun so terminated (or may be so after the words द्विनीया and नृतीया), and the sinal vowel becomes short before this prefix

- 11 ATH (3d 4th 5th da) is fubjoined in the dual of the caufative, dative, and ablative cases, to all nouns, without any permutation but what takes place in the inflective root itself. So ATH (6th and 7th du) is subjoined in the dual of the relative and locative cases, without any variation but that of the inflective root itself. However the final H is, as usual, convertible into E, &c
- 12 知祇 (3d pl) is subjoined in the plural of the causative case, to most nouns but 克祇 is substituted for that affix following an instective root ending in a short 朝; except 孝之邦 ind 朝之祇, unless these have taken 私 (see Ch 9)
- 13 अप्रस (4th 5th pl) is subjoined in the plural of the dative and ablative cases, to most nouns, and is never permuted except after the personal pronouns. The permutations of these and other affixes in the inflections of those pronouns will be hereafter stated (Ch 9)
- 14 期刊 (6th pl) is fubpoined in the plural of the relative case to most nouns ending in consonants and in long vowels but 元 (元之) is preserved to that affix following an inflective root ending in a short vowel or in a termination denominated 元之 (5 v), or in 元 deduced from 페딘 (Ch 11) or following 元元 or the numerals denominated 대元 (Ch 9) However 代 (元之) is the press of this affix following the inslective root of a provious ending in 到 (or 到1). These pressess are convertible in many instances into the cerebral elements for 则 is substituted for 元 (unless it be simil) following 元 or 则 in the same word even though (汉之) vowels, and seminovels sinclud-ing 夏 but excluding 內, and (京, 里) guitural and label confonants, and 刘克思文, intervene. 里 is in like manner substituted for 元 inmediately sollowing 冠. So 里 is substituted for 元, contained in an affix or a substitute, and following 气 河) any vowel except 到 (and 到), or a sum owel including 夏, or (夏) a guitural element, even though the augment 弖亞(元), in 包括护, or a sibilant (京文), intervene.

15. 長, deduced from 長星 (7th. pl.), is subjoined in the plural of the locative case to all nouns. The initial of this affix is convertible into 星 in many inflances, by the rule above cited.

SECTION IV.

PERMUTATIONS OF THE INITIALS OF AFFIXES TO-© GETHER WITH THE FINAL OF THE ROOT.

- N. B. The following rules are extracted from the \mbox{ift} fection of Pa'n'ını's 6th lecture.
- 1. If a fnort 虱, not being the final of a word (耳云), be followed by a guáa element, a fingle letter, fimilar to the last, shall be substituted for both.
- 2. But when a vowel (到英), excepting diphthongs, is followed by affixes of the first and second cases beginning with (到廷) any vowel or diphthong, a fingle long vowel, homogeneous with the first, shall be substituted for both, and 元 is substituted in the masculine gender for the final of 别代 (2d. pl.) after a long vowel so substituted for such two elements.

- 3 However, a long vowel is not fo fubflitted (in if and 2d cases) for two elements, when 哥 (or 哥) is followed by (君東) any diphthong or vowel except 哥 (or 哥); nor when a long vowel is followed by 吊代 (ift pl).
- 4. When a vowel (到前), excepting diphthongs, is followed by the vowel of 到用 (2d fing. 1st 2d fing. neut) a fingle element fimilar to the first is substituted for both.*
- 5 When a guiae diphthong ($\overline{v}\overline{z}$) is followed by the short vowel \overline{z} ? of \overline{z} ? And \overline{z} ? (5th 6th sing.), a single element similar to the sirst, is substituted for both. When the same affixes follow a term ending in a short \overline{z} ?, \overline{z} shall be substituted for both elements.

SECTION V.

DENOMINATIONS OF INFLECTIVE ROOTS!

1. The five first affixes (長文) are denominated 我立可知我们在 except in the neuter gender; but 刻 is so in the neuter gender. Before these, the insteading root retains its appellation of 或机. Before other affixes beginning with vowels or with 夏, it is denominated 孔. Before the rest of the affixes, which are subjoined to nouns, in declining them, or in forming derivative nouns, the insteading root is called 夏之. Hence,

^{*} In the manner, when a vowel, fibfinared (संप्रसार्ण) for a firmyrowel, is followed by a vowel, a fingle element, the firms with the first of them, is fulfitured for both. But a preceding feminowel is not permuted (संप्रसार्ण) before a vowel subfinited for a feminowel (Ch. 10. § 11. 11.).

t When 副 is followed by 副用 or 到根 (2d fing, ard pl), 副 is firely, fabilitated for both vowels.

and because \mathbf{H} (1st sing.) is expunged after a final confonant, many rules relative to the finals of inflected words are applicable to the finals of crude nouns (§. 7.).

- 2. Most nouns are derived from verbs by means of affixes: but in fome derivatives, through affixes containing the syllable $\widehat{\epsilon}_i$, in which $\widehat{\xi}$ is mute, such affix, thus reduced to a single letter, is expunged, and the derivative remains a verbal root. Many rules relative to verbs are consequently applicable to such derivative nouns: and most of the crude nouns, which end in consonants, are of this fort (Ch. 10—12.). The terminations, deduced from affixes, are for the most part $\widehat{\tau}_i$, $\widehat{\tau}_i$ and $\widehat{\tau}_i$ among consonants, and $\widehat{\tau}_i$, $\widehat{\tau}_i$, $\widehat{\tau}_i$, $\widehat{\tau}_i$, $\widehat{\tau}_i$ and $\widehat{\tau}_i$ among consonants, and $\widehat{\tau}_i$, $\widehat{\tau}_i$, $\widehat{\tau}_i$, $\widehat{\tau}_i$, and $\widehat{\tau}_i$ among vowels.
- 3. From nouns of other genders, feminine nouns are derived with the terminations आ, ई and इ, deduced for आप, जी, and उड़् (Ch. 14.). A noun ending in ई or इ, invariably feminine, is called नदी; unless its final be convertible into उच्च and उच्च (Ch. 7. §. 11 4.) except स्त्री. However fuch a noun (full excepting स्त्री) may be so denomined before आम (7th sing.), and before affixes distinguished by a mute इ; and a noun in ३ and 3, that is invariably seminine, may be so denominated before the last mentioned affixes. Other nouns in ३ and 3 are called त, excepting सिंख and पति, unless in composition (Ch. 6.).

SECTION VI.

PERMUTATIONS OF INFLECTIVE ROOTS.

N. B. The following rules are extracted from Pa'n'ini's 6th and 7th lectures; but those, which are least general, are here transferred from the text to the notes. 2

Several rules, which occur in the three fifth februars of the 6th letture, are here conred, and for are thole, which role to the perforal and other protours ending in confount 6
(Ch. 9). They will be noted in the following the prime of this grammar, where allo the rules, contained in this chapter, will be exemplified (in Ch. 5 — 12).

- 1. The long vowel is substituted for the final one of an institutive root, when नीम (6th pl.) follows; and for the penultimate of such a root ending in न, before नाम (6th pl.), and before संग्राम्यान (1st sing.—2d du.), except the voc. sing.; and (before the last mentioned affixes, with the same exception) for the penultimate vowel of महत्त and of nouns (not verbs) ending in a conjunct the last element of which is स; and for the penultimate of अप and of nouns terminated by deduced from नून and नून, and of certain other nouns in स (समू &c. see Ch. 6. §. iii and iv.); and, before शि (1st 2d pl. neut), for the penultimate of nouns ending in रून and certain other terms in न (हन &c. see Ch. 10. §. ii. 10.); and before स (1st sing.) for the same, and for the penultimate of a term ending in अनु (where 3 is mute), and of a noun (not a verb) ending in आस.

SECTION VII.

PERMUTATIONS OF THE FINALS, &c.

N. D. The following rules are extracted from the three last sections of PATTARS 8th lecture.

स्, and of certain' nouns in स (उशनस १६८), before स् (18 fig.), All ex-

लिए is infected like neuns termmated by नृच, with the सर्वनामस्थान affixes (excepting the vec. fing.), and also in the femining gender. It may be inflicted like a noun to terminated before the affixes of the 3d-8cc cafer, which begin with vowels.

आ (आम) is inferred after the late vowel of चत्र and of अनडुह,, before, सर्वनामस्थान विकास का आप (अम) in the voc. fing

o. The short vowel may be substituted before डि (7th sing.), and in the vocative singular, for the sinal of a noun, terminated by the asix तल. हर देवता a delity, 7th sing. देवत or देवता या, voc. sing. देवत or देवता Odity!

- t. A blank (लीप) is substituted for न final of a crude noun, that is denominated पद; except the voc. sing unless in the neuter gender.
- 2 A blank (西山) is fublished for 代, or 氧, being the first element of a conjunct, at the end of a word, or followed by (五夜) any consonant but a nasal or semicowel.
- 3. So a guttural confonant (五) is substituted for a palatine (五), at the end of a word, and before 五页; and ⑤ for 页; but 页 for this letter in a verb of which the initial is 五, and optionally in 五页 and certain other verbs (Ch 12: ﴿ 1)." However 된 is the substitute for 页 in the word 五页.

10 विसर्ग is substituted for दू deduced from ह, when सुप् (7th pl) follows (Ch. 11.).

SECTION-VIII.

RECAPITULATION. ,

- 1. The inflections of nouns in \overline{s} and \overline{s} , as taught by the preceding rules, deviate confiderably from the regular inflections indicated by the tables of affixes. The decknifion of nouns in \overline{s} bears some affinity with that of nouns in \overline{s} and \overline{s} ; and a strong-analogy is observed in the declension of nouns in \overline{s} and \overline{s} . All these will be therefore exemplified at large in three distinct chapters (Ch 5 7)
- 2 The inflections of nouns in, and are finelly regular, those of nouns ending in the other diphthongs, and vowels, are not very anomalous. They will be exhibited in another chapter (Ch. 8)
 - 3 But here, and in the subsequent declensions of nouns ending in

So कर्णा the ear, बाल hair, शब्द found, फुलू bloffom, मुझू winte, कुछा black, and other nouns in आ.

- 2. But inflead of नाम the termination of 6th pl. is आम after रू or ष् notwithflanding the intervention of certain letters (Ch. 4. § iii. 14.). Ex. राम Ra'ma. 6th pl. रामाणाम. So सूर्य the fun, चंद्र the moon, मनुष्ठा a man, याच् a tiger, बराह a boar, &c.
- 3. पाद a foot, देन a tooth, मास a month, and यूप pea-foup, may be regularly inflected, or पट, दत, मास, and यूपन may be substituted for them respectively, in forming 2d pl. and 3d and following cases (Ch. 10.—12.) These substituted roots, it should be observed, may be treated as distinct nouns.

SECTION II.

MASCULINE PRONOUNS IN 到.

s. सर्व all. Sing. 4th सर्वरमै 5th सर्वस्मात् 7th सर्वस्मिन्

But सम, equal, is not a pronoun: and पूर्व east or prior, पर fubsequent, अवर west or posterior, दक्षिण south or right, उत्तर north or subsequent, अपर other or inferior, अधर west or inferior, are pronouns only when they signify relative situation, provided also they be not used as denominatives. So ख (self) is not a pronoun, when used as a denominative, or as signifying Linsman or wealth, and अंतर is not a pronoun in any acceptation but that of external, or that of lower garment.
- 4. These pronouns (पूर्व &c) may be declined like common nouns in 2d pl. and in 5th and 7th sing. of the masc. and neut. Again the pro-

- t This pronoun is a primitive; and so is the correspondent term अन्यतम one of many but this last is not a pronoun. Some confider the derivative अन्यतम्, which is synnonymous with अन्य, as the pronoun here meant (See Ch. 18).

[‡] Of words claffed among pronouns (fee Ch 9), fome are real pronouns, others right be termed articles, and the rell are arranged in this class from the analogy of their infections, rather than that of their manangs. It should be remarked, but many of these pronouns have other acceptances, as such, besides those which have been here exhibited. So the nouns, that are given as examples of declarates, are explained in one. Soft only, though many have numerous arceptances.

noun नेम, half, may be declined like a common noun in 2d pl. and प्रथम first, चर्म last, अल् little, and कतिपय few, and derivatives ending in तथ, may be inslected like pronouns in 2d pl. and ordinals ending in तिथ may be inslected like pronouns in 4th 5th and 7th sing.*

5. The pronoun एक, employed as a numeral, is invariably fingular; and उभ is invariably dual: but उभयं, according to the best authorities, has no dual.

Other examples are धन wealth, चन forest, जल water, रिश्वर blood: and here again णि shall be substituted for नि, like णाम for नाम, after र or प्, notwithstanding the intervention of certain letters (Ch. 4. §. iii. 14.).‡

In some forts of compounds, the prenouns are not treated as such; in others they are epitendily so, in others again they are optionally so for ad pl. only; in the rest, they are treated as pronouns (see derivation of compounds.). But none of them are pronouns, when used as proper stants, or in composition as terms of secondary importance in the compounds.

⁺ The changes of the affixes are 別 (nbenn 刻 is mute) substituted for 副 and 副是 in the neuter gender (see Ch. 4. 5 v. 6. note $1.), 阅 (wherein 刻 is aguit mute) substituted for 司代 and 別代 in the neuter gender (but in right of this amended affixe, 可 is inferted after a vowel, and the neuter gender (but in right of this amended affixe, 可 is inferted after a vowel, and the neuter gender (but in right of this amended affixe, 可 is inferted after a vowel, and the vowel is lengthened before 可); 副杆 (shift) after a neuter nova ending in 刻, and the short vowel retained as in 28 sage, where a also 副杆 is substituted for the engined 副杆 (see Ch. 4.)

¹ शन a lumited, and सहस्र a thoult e, vith oiller it gh numerals, are moftly reuters but forme admit another gender (Ch.11).

- In both inflances the regular affaces are employed: but in one, the final vowel of the root was expanged before the terminations of 2d pl. and 3d &c. exfest, and at the other inflance, T is fabilitated for H (though forme authors have denied this in regard to nouns in 311) by analogy with other declentions of malculine nouns (fee Ch. 4.).
- t आसा and other simular words, signifying mother, require the substitution of the short varied to form the voc. sing. unless the vowel be preceded by इ, लू or कू not conjunct. Ex. आस, अह, अल, अलाई, अलाई, अलाई, अलाई, अलिंक (see Ch. 4- 5, vi. 11. and the note *).
- t The changes of the affixes are 和 (表) subflitted for 期 and 别是 after the termanation deduced from 到中; 到中 for 管, and 和 prefixed to it and to other affixes shifting afficed by a mure 蒙; 可 prefixed to 到中 (6th pl); and a bluck fabilituted for 明 (if fing.) सर्वा all. Sing. 4th सर्वस्थे 5th 6th सर्वस्थाः 7th सर्वस्थान् Pi. 6th सर्वासम् †. The other inflections conform with those of common nouns in आ deduced from आप.

e Thus, in the makuline gender, निर्मार, exempt from decrepitude (viz. a God), incy be regularly institute, or it may substitute निर्मार before vowels: and in like manner, आगर, void of decrepitude, may be regularly institute, and the substitute आगर्स before vowels; however the 1st sing. of the neut. will be आगर्स; and the 2d sing.

This is founded on a maxim, which, though not of universal cogency, is of extensive use; vize that an operation cannot be admitted to destroy that union of elements on which itself depends: thus a blank is regularly subflicted for H (if sing.) in the neuter gender; but BH is subflicted for it after A; now AH is subflicted for AT before vowels: but, if this be here admitted, the subfliction of AH is subflicted Again; a blank is subflicted for BH and a sinal B, on which it is itself sounded. Again; a blank is subflicted for BH (2d sing) in the neuter gender; but BH is subflicted for the same asia after B; now AH being subflicted for AH before vowels by a rule subscience to the other tors the substitution of BH; and therefore a blank should be substituted for the original BH. But, if this be admitted, the expunging of BH in tight of AH destroys the concurrence of BH with that substitute, on which its being replaced was founded.

t Here स्पा, inflead of सा, has been prefixed to affixes combining a mute 2; and R, inflead of A, has been prefixed to AIR (6th pl.). The vowel has become from before the first mentioned prefix (Ch. 4. §. in. 10.).

A firmler fubl reution of the gard e'errent takes place in terms denominated U (Ch. 4 § v. 3) before the states differguifted by a wate $\frac{1}{2}$; except 7th ling, in which $\frac{1}{2}$] has been the fir...d for 気, and 弱 for the final of the root (but in the 5th and 6th fing. the fubflituted gunn diphthong has been again subflituted for stielf together with the vowel of the offixes 克伊 and 罗代). In 3d fing 司 is subflituted for 图 after terms denormanted 冠.

In 6th pl T has been prefixed to SNT; and the vowel of the root has become long. In 7th pl U has been substituted for H after the vowel The substitution of SU and SU and For V and SU, and U and T for V and SU, before vowels (1st pl 4th sing 6th and 7th du), is consormable to the general rules of orthography

In the irregular nouns, which are not denominated u (iv and v), I is not fublituted to EI, nor the guns d phthong for the final of the root before affixes diffunguished by a mute ; and here I has been substituted for the vowels of FI and TH (5th and 6th ling) after the conjuncts U and TH wherein the securowel U is the substitute of the CC (see Ch 4)

Patronymucks from लोमन, ending in ३, are irregular in the plural, for the termination of the patronymick is आ in this number Ex औदुलीम son of उडुलोमन् in sing औदुलोमिঃ Dx औदुलोमी Pl उडुलोमाः.

* In the first instance, the compound term is derived from सर्वी, the final of which, being a feminine asiax, has become short in the misculine gender. In the other instances, the compounds are derived from सर्वि; but the exception from the denomination of वि (Ch. 4 § v 3) regards the single term, not its compound derivatives.

6 A B a shakal is irregular in the first five inflections, and may be so in the third and following cases before vowels. But in 2d pl. and before consonants in the 3d &c. (including 6th pl.) it is regular (though some authors have admitted the optional irregularity in 2d and 6th pl. also). The irregularity consists in making the root terminate in A instead of 3; and from this irregular root is derived the seminine noun A fight a semale shakal.

FEMININES IN 3 AND 3.

In the next four infi-chons, the guna element is subfituted for the final, and the penultimate theree deduced, becomes long in certain nouns (i. and iii). The guna element is also subfituted in 7th sing, before 53.

But $\Pi$ is subflicted for $\Pi$ (unless the behind) after $\Pi$ (Co. 4).

[•] In this decleration, the ist fing, being analogous to that of nouns in 蜀元, the grammanan directs 蜀元曼 (that is, 蜀元) to be subflicted for the final 丑 (fee Ch. 10. §. 11).

But in the vocative sing, the gasse element is subflicted for the final of the root, and 代 being expunged, 五 is changed to 石田町 at the end of the word when disjoined from any subsequent letter.

- 5. अस्यि a bone, दिश्व curds, सिन्य the thigh, and ग्रिक्ष the eye, are irregular in the 3d and following cafes, before terminations beginning श्री and श्रि are substituted in the dual and plural for the assisted of 1st and 2d esses; and श्रि being denominated सर्वनामस्थान in the neuter gender, न is, in right of it, subjoined to a final vowel, which consequently becomes long. Again, before श्री, and other assists of which the efficient initial is a vowel (excepting 6.h pl.), न is subjoined to the final of a neuter noun and ng it an दन vowel.

The analogy of the preceding declemines prevails in 6th and 7th pl. (T being prefixed to MIH in 6th pl. and H changed to M in 7th pl.); and the other inflections are regular (fee Ch. 4.).

[•] In the inflections of neuter nours (excepting nouns in), a blank which leaves the inflective root unaffected, is fubilitated for the affixes of all and ad fing, but the radical terminating viewel may be changed into the guida element in voc. fing. by the analogy of other nouns of ding in floret vowels.

- + In the musculine and neuter, 국괴 is subflitted for 국 in 6th pl. but ਜਿਸ਼ is subflitted for it throughout the inflections of the same word in the seminane gender, the sinal vowel of this subflittete, like that of 국가 된 for 국가 four, remains short in 6th pl. So in composition प्रयक्ति, a man who has three favourite things, is regularly insected like masculine nouns in $\frac{1}{2}$. But this, and smaller derivatives, form the 6th pl. as in the simple numeral (though some authors have thought enterwise). 1 When a noun ending in an रेक् vowel (३, उ or स) is employed in the neuter gender for the same purport, for which it may be also employed in the masculine, it may be instead like the masculine, with such of the terminations of the 3d and following cases, as begin with vowels Ex. अनादि devoid of a beginning Next. But the 1st and a side sing may be I all I, because the brank, substituted for I and III, is denominated I and which leaves the instictive root unaffected, now I was the root, for which is substituted in the seminine gerder before assizes of declension. The same neuter compound (Vany) may be insticted, in the 3d and so lowing exec, like a masculine noun, for the reason explained in the following section.

t प्रियजोष्ट, sond of shikals, may serve as another example of the above and corcerning the said so that compounds of जोष्ट्र empored in the rea or gender, it must be observed, that here are regular in the 1st and 2d cases for 1st and Sing प्रियजोष्ट्र Do - सूनी PL - सूनि 31 Sing - सूना o - सा.

 - 10 Masculines in 老 or in 氢, deducing this termination of the noun from an affix, are inflected as in the third and fourth examples (iii and ii) by subjoining the affixes according to the general rules of orthography Thus 百百五元 a fleet flag, derived by subjoining the affix 表, is declined like 可知; but derived by subjoining the affix 表 and consequently retaining the verbal root, it is declined like 可知。

NEUTERS IN Z AND Z.

When nouns, terminated by $\frac{2}{3}$ and $\frac{3}{3}$, are declined in the neuter gender, the short vowel is substituted for the long one, and the noun is inflected, as if the root had been terminated by a short vowel. But, if the word right be also employed with the same import in the masculine gender, it may be inflected like a masculine noun, in the third and sollowing cases as before mentioned (Ch 6 \frac{5}{2}$ vi.).

The anomalies, in the neuter gender, of compounds from irregular nouns in $\frac{1}{2}$ and $\frac{1}{2}$, have been fuggested in the preceding section (see the last note)

. Cone rn ng compounds, of which H is the last term, it must be noticed, that this, and o her word, which have the feminine term mation, make the wowel fliort, when such words are not the principal terms in the compound Thus Anth, furpalling a woman, must be infi le' as a noun ending in 3. And in regard to fuch compounds of A, it should be ob rved, that the substitution of $\frac{20}{20}$ ($\frac{30}{2}$) for the final is barred in the malculine gen' r by the fublit tution of the guina element (sit pl &c), and before न (3d fing), आत ', h 'rg) and the prefix न (bih pl), and, in the neuter gender, by the fame prefix, and by T Subjoined to the inflefive root before vowels, and, even in the feminine gender, by the fulfitiut on of the guida element, and by AR (7th fing), and the prefix T; because the rules for these operations are subs quent to that for the substitution of 30 . But, before the affixes र Ringu hed by a mute 3, the analogy of नदी may be followed in the feminine gender, and configurally the Subflittet on of 30 may take place Ex. ON INDECLINABLES.

- 1. A blank (克克) is substituted for the feminine termination (到刊), and for an affix of declention (現刊), after an indeclinable term (到起刊). Such a term is therefore invariable in the three genders and the three numbers, and in all the cases.
- 2. Indeclinable terms nevertheless admit the import of cases, numbers, and genders, without their inflictions: indeclinable compounds are even subject to variation of gender, assuming the neuter form, other compounds, terminated by indeclinable words, provided these be not principal terms in the compound, are inflected like common nouns.
- 3 Certain nouns (सर् &c) are indeclinable; and fo are particles (निपान), including prepositions (उपसर्ग and गति); fo likewise are adverbial or indeclinable compounds (अवसीयाव), and nouns terminated by certain tadd but and crit affixes.
- 4 Properly the indeclinable nouns are those, which are invariable, even though they denote substance (i.e. even when used as nouns), ext leaven, जीतर mids, प्रात् rooming, पुनर् again, सन्तर concealment, उन्नेस hoph, नीचेस low, श्रानेस souly, स्थक् true, स्ते except, युगपत at the same time, आशात 'far, 'near, पृथक् apait, हास 3-flerday, प्रास tomorrow, दिवा in the day, राजी at night, सायम at eve, चिन्म a long time, मनाक and ईपत् a little, जीषम and तहारी मितिसा, विह्स and अवस without, on the cutsde, समया and निक्षा near, स्वयम् of hirtless, वृशा in sain, नज़म at night, नज़ not, होती with chur, रहा munstession, अहा evidently, सिनि half, सना, सनात, and

The prepositions (प्र &c.) are in like manner denominated particles (निपात), provided they do not figurely substance (i e exclusively of similar terms, which are nouns, such as परा seminate of पर subsequent). They are denominated उपसर्ग when conjoined with terms signifying action, that is, with verbs, and are also named गति (see Derivation of compound terms) This last denomination is likewise applicable to certain other indeclinables, it conjoined with the verbs दुन्न, स्वा असर. Some of the prepositions, in certain acceptations, are denominated कर्मप्रवचनीय (see Syntax).

- 6 The uses of these several denominations will be explained in their places. Meartime it may be remarked, that all these prepositions (उपसर्ग and गाँत), whether properly so called, or only so denominated on account of certain anomalies, are placed before the verbs, with which they are connected but, in the dialect of the Vida, they often follow the verb, or are as frequently disjoined from it. In common speechalso, they are sometimes disjoined from the verbs, but, according to the best authorities, they are, in this instance, denominated particles, and not prepositions.
 - 7. Particles, referabling the prepositions, are sometimes sound in composition with terms, which would not regularly retain the form that is exhibited, if they were joined with a true preposition (3 UH). In such instances likewise, the seeming preposition must be deemed a particle.
 - 8 Inflected verbs occur in acceptations not reconcileable with fuch inflection. These also must be considered as particles. So certain in-

To which must be added, unless contact be signified, उरिस the breat, मनिस the mind, मध्ये mill, पदे foot, and निवचने filence. But the following terms are indefpensably denominated Aff in conjunction with & 5, 5 viz. ह से and पाणी the hand, provided marriage be meant; the indechnable term प्राचिम sequence, provided the series be occasioned by binding; also जीविका and उपनिषद. provided similitude be the subject. Many of these terms, as is obvious, are instelled nouns; they are placed here, on account of accentuation, and of certain peculiar inflections of the compound werb in conjunction with them, and with other terms denominated gati (fee Derivation of compound terms). . The following are the most common unstances of instected verbs used as particles, or as roots of derivatives. Some have been inferted among the aptotes. असि 1 (Ex. लामसिविच् I tell thee); असि thou; असि existence (Ex. आसिकः one, who believes in a future state); नास्ति non existence (Ex. नास्तिवः one, who disbelieves another world); स्पात् sophism; अस्तु and भवत् indicating resultant acknowledgment, भवति and विदात existence; आस was; वर्नते expression of raillery; न्द्रन्ते insufpicious; आह he said; ब्रह्मि say (indicating command, see.); याति can; न्याति cannot;

- o Inflected nouns, likewife, are formetimes employed, like crude nouns, for the roots of derivatives, these also must be deemed particles (Ext. EXEX) proud, arrogant). Certain nouns too, which have terminations similar to those of cases, are used adverbally, and are deemed either particles or aptotes. Many inflances of such will be found in the several lists inferred in the notes
- 10 Single vowels have fignification as particles, being used as expressions of contempt, pity, surprise, or other emotion; or as vocative particles, or in particular acceptations *
- 11. The enumeration of terms belonging to these several classes has been lest by grammarians avowedly incomplete, to provide for the admission of such indeclinables, as have been overlooked. When any such occur, they are reserved to one or both classes of indeclinables, either aptotes or particles, according to their accentuation, rather than their import. For this, and other reasons before suggested, the distinction between aptotes and particles has not been strictly observed in the supplementary list here subjoined †

12. Among the various indeclinables, fome expressly convey the sense, which grammanans assign to them respectively (for example, the true aptores), others are considered to indicate, rather than express, the import (for instance, the conjunctions and interjections), some are deemed mere expletives, others are employed in forming compound particles. The interpretation of these terms, as usually given in dictionaries, would not be intelligible without examples, especially since the sense is, in many instances, imperfect, until the import of some instection be added, suitably to the usual employment of the term. On this account the meaning is here, frequently, given in the notes by a corresponding adverb, conjunction, preposition, or interjection. Among various acceptations, the most common only have been in general selected. But, where the terms are obsolute, or at least uncommon, or where the adverbial use of them deviates, much from their general acceptation, an uncommon sense is unavoidably exhibited.

SECTION I.

ON THE ROOTS OF VERBS.

- 1. From a companion of the inflections of words, and a full confideration of their analogies and anomalies, the Sanforit grammarians have invefugated the roots or themes of verbs, and framed rules for conjugating them, and for deriving nouns from the roots, by means of terminations or affixes, of fublituitions or permutations, and of prefixes or o her augments.
- 2 The root, or theme, denominated धानु, confilts of the radical letters, disjoined from the affixes and augments. It may be called a trude verb, and is exhibited various ways in rules of grammar.

First With the efficient radical letters, as they sland in all, or in most, of the inflections, which can be referred to the same theme.

Second With the termination 3 affixed to that efficient root.

Third With the termination in subjoined to the radical letters, interpoling for the most part such affix, as the verb affects in the present tends. The root, thus exhibited, corresponds in general with the third person singular of the present tends in the aftire voice.

Fourth. With mute letters or fyllables annexed either to the efficient radicals, or to those, from which the proper radicals may be deduced. This is the form, in which the roots or themes are exhibited in the Dhatu pata or catalogue of verbs, and is termed the elementary of original form of the root.

Fight. With elementary radicals, omitting all or fome of the mute letters, or with the efficient radicals, retaining the mute letters or fome of them

These as well as other mode, which are likewise in use, will be easily understood. But, in the present work, the roots are commonly shown in their elementary form:

- ing to their conjugation, in ten classes (§ ii. 7.). They will be here exhibited in the same order (Ch. 20. &c.), after taking a comprehensive view of the rules for their inflection (Ch. 16.—19.).
- 5. The prevailing form of conjugation is that of the first class; as also werbs of the tenth (whether these be inflected as derivatives, or be conjugated as simple verbs, which many of this class may be). The intermediate classes are less copious, and may be considered as eight orders of irregular verbs. But many roots, truly irregular, are interspersed among those which are less anomalous; being either placed in subdivisions of the classes, or scattered among the regular verbs.
- 6. Befides the fimple and the derivative verbs arranged in ten classes, and besides other derivative verbs, which will be separately considered (see Conjugated Nouns, &c.), some roots occur, which are noticed in rules of grammar, though omitted in the catalogue of themes.—Such roots are denominated. Sautra dhaftu, or verbs, noticed in rules. In this grammar, they are referred to their classes, with the designation of supplementary.
 - 7. Denominations of the classes and orders are taken from the verb, which stands at the head of the class, or of the order. The only other denomination, besides अभ्यस्त (Ch. 18. & iv. 2.), that requires notice in this place, is $\overline{3}$, which designates any root tanalogous to $\overline{4}$ or $\overline{4}$, except $\overline{4}$ and $\overline{2}$$\overline{4}$.

Other muse fyllables, [77, 2] and 3, indicate the admittion of certain affixes, in certain acceptations (fee Participles Gr.).

ON THE AFFIXES.

- 1. ন্ত, the common ligh of moods and tenles diftinguished from each other by the mute confonants Z and ড ; and by mute vowels, is subjoined to a (মন্দ্ৰ) translitive verb to denote the agent (মন্ত্ৰ), or the object (ব্ৰম), of the action (সিয়া); and to an (প্ৰক্ষন) intranslitive one, to mark the agent, or (মান) the condition (i. e. the action itself, which the verb imports).*
- 2. The moods and tenfes, diffinguished as abovementioned, are $\overline{\partial} Z$ the prefent; $\overline{\partial} Z$ the remote past; $\overline{\partial} Z$ the absolute future; $\overline{\partial} Z$ the absolute past; $\overline{\partial} Z$ the dialect of the Veda; $\overline{\partial} \overline{\partial} Z$ imperative, $\overline{\partial} Z$ the absolute past; $\overline{\partial} Z$ imperative, optative, subjunctive, &c. $\overline{\partial} Z$ the absolute past; $\overline{\partial} Z$ the conditional future.
 - 3. The affixes of the active, or of the middle or reflective voice, are substituted for eq.; those of the middle voice, if the crude verb be distinguished by a mute vowel (anudatta) gravely accorded, or if the root contain a mute \(\frac{\sigma}{2}\); the same with a restective import; or the terminations of the active voice, when the sense is not respective, if the crude verb be distinguished by a mute \(\frac{\sigma}{2}\) or by (finerita) a circumslexed mute vowel, and those of the active voice, in all instances where the restective

The vetb id-if denotes the actions to be, or to do, generally; or to be, or to de, in a particular manner. In the active voice, the affex marks the agent: In the paffive voice of a transiver verb, it marks the object, but, in the paffive form of an intraffice torm, the action field (free Ch. 21. 5, to note.).

That is, according to the grammarian's definition, if the fruit or confequence of the action voice is not directed by the foregoing general rules, or by special precepts. But the affixes of the middle voice are exclusively used, to denote the object, or the condition, that is, to form the passive voice of active or of neuter verbs.

4. In each voice, the affixes are nine, denoting three persons and three numbers.

ges The fecond fort confills of fach verbs, as adout infectious analogous to the middle vole of the Greek. The next have the active, but no middle volee. The patitive of an intransitive verb is imperforal, as denoting the conductor, or mod- of bring (Basea), poffered by the agent. The patitive voice of a transitive verb ranes with the perfort, being governed by the object (Germa) in the nominative case. But, when the object and the agent (Corme-Corral) are identical, that meaning, analogous to that of French reciprocal terbs, is expressed by a patitive voice, diffiring, however, in some instances, from the simple one abovement oned, and which may be called a near or reciprocal patitive. Transitive verbs also admit the impersonal form, when it is not meant to specify the object, and so does the reciprocal or neuter passive in some instances. This requires cloudation

The active and patine voices, in their obtions and regular ufes, are fufficiently clear, for the \mathcal{L}^1 is one to a single value of the real agent is in ended F_F a carpen of plats wood with an axe, a cook boils rice in a caldron, or wood is fight by a carpen of with an axe, in cost boiled by a cook in a caldron in A.

When it is not intended to specify the act of the real agent, but to indicate the facility of the action, the inclument, sie, or other means of effecting it, may assume the name of agent, as independent in reflect of their own acts, and the instettion of the verb may denote an agent, which was properly the influence. So Ev the are splits the wood, the caldron boats the rice. Here the active voice, or, if the verb be deponent, the middle voice, must be used. But, when the object is in a strict manner tree of as the agent, verbs, which were originally tractious, become in general intrassitis. Ev wood splits, nice boils. This may be experted by the impersonal verb

Er Main angir; Talin, of tiell Here the action must be one, which affects the object, not the agent Thus, if it be such, a traveller approaches a town, the object is not affected by the action, for there is no difference in the town, whether approached or not, as there is in rice, boiled, or nw The reciprocal pulsar is therefore refinded to verby gaufring an action, or a condition, which affects the object, is treated like the object, that is, the verb is infinitely with some variation, however, in certain affections, and subject to exceptions and anomalies peculiar to this reciprocal pulsar. But, in general, a verb, used transitively, is not so instead of Er. Two things touch each other This may be termed a reciprocal active. The subject will be more fully confidered under the head of Synax.

The catalogue of themes specifies the accents of the mute vowels, to distribute verbs which are adure, deponent, or common. But many verbs, which are regularly infledted in the aditive voice, become deponent, in conjunction with certain prepositions, reflinded, however, for the most part, to limited acceptations. A few, also, which regularly are refinded to one voice, admit the middle voice in the reflective sens, when joined with certain prepositions, while others, which have either deponent, or common, are refinded to the active voice in particular circumstances.

Inflances will be given in the fublequent Chapters. For further informatich, the original grammar may be confidted (PA's. Lect. 1 § 4). Some serbs are peculiarly anomalous. Thus RE.

AFFIXES DISTINGUISHED BY FICTITIOUS MUTE_LETTERS *

- 1. A farvad hatuca affix, that is not diffinguished mediately, or immediately, by a mute \mathcal{T} , is similar to one, that contains a mute \mathcal{T} . But (\mathcal{T}) an affix of the remotely past tense, unless so distinguished, is similar to one, which contains a mute \mathcal{T} , if subjoined to a verb not terminated by a conjunct \mathcal{T}
- 2 सन्, having a conforant (जल) for its initial (i e being deflitute of the prefix रहे), is confidered to contain a mute क्, when fubjoined to a verb ending in an रक्षण्या, or to one ending in a conforant with fuch a vowel contiguous. So are लिड़ and सिच्, having fuch an initial conforant, when fubjoined in the middle or passive voices, to fuch a verb, as has been last described, or to one ending in स or मा.

I The best authorities confine this restriction to सिच्.

[•] The chief ofe of these mate letters, ₹ and ₹, is to prevent the sublitution of a guara or coredition letter for an ₹₹ vor el (Clr 2 § : 1 €)

⁺ So is any affix (except fuch, as are d flinguished by a move 列 or 顺,) when subjoined to 刑责 (substituted for 天夏 Ch 18 $ 1 3), or to certain verbs of the 6 i class (from 勇己 to 勇曼), or 和母 (unless 到代 be the affix of this lift verb).

3 积气 (as well 新学) having ₹ (表文) prefixed to it, is optiomally † confidered to contain a mute 贡, when subjoined to a verb beginning with a consonant, and ending with (表現) any consonant but 夏, or 贡, and having ℥ or ℥ (or ℥ or ℥) for its penultimate.

SECTION V:

SYNOPSIS OF CONJUGATION.

- - 2. Verbs of the 5th, 8th, and 9th classes end in 1, 3 and 1 (or 1), 31 and 1) before farvadhatucas. Here, and in the preceding inflances, the permutations of the radicals, before the several terminations, must be carefully noticed, they will be stated comprehensively in the 18th and 19th Chapters, and exemplified at large in the 21st and following Chapters.

[.] See Derredie of Participles We for other rules respecting fifth your me elt is ⁺ Ban, undifferentially, in the unitaries of सदिह, ब्रिट्, ब्राव मुध; : . १७ गृह, जिल्ला प्राथ प्रक.

- 3. Verbs of the 2d, 3d and 7th claffes, and charcarita intentives, as well as fome conjugated nouns, retain the radical termination at the close of the inflective root, before farvadhatuca affixes, as verbs, which refuse the prefix 3 (Ch 17 §.1), do before árdhadhátucas Accordingly the general rules of orthography in composition, as well as the peculiar rules of permutation in etymology, must here be carefully observed
- 4 Anomalies are fo frequent and numerous, and permutations are fo various, that it is fearcely possible to felect verbs, which are perfectly regular in every inflection, to ferve as a paradigma for many others. But, though rules, applicable to the several verbs, are dispersed in various places, their operation will become familiar, from examples of their application in the 21st and following Chapters.
- 5 The tenses, which are most irregular, are those of the past-especially the aonst past, and, next to that, the pretent or remote. In general, it will be sufficient to exhibit the 3d sing of the present, as an example both of that tense, and of the imperatives, the 3d sing of the remote past, as an example of this tense, the 3d sing of the absolute facture, as an instance of all the futures, and the 3d sing or even all the instead of the aonst past, which is the most anomalous of the tense. The absolute past may generally be deduced from the present but it must sometimes be shown, and so must the benedictive to the instance of the tense statements of the tense statements.
 - 6 *The following synoptical table exhibits the regular or most frequent terminations of tenses and moods, subject to variations which will be indicated in their places and a second table gives a general view of the formation of inslective roots, independently of the permutation of radicals

CONJUGATED in the ACTIVE VOICE.

• मू [सञ्चायाम्] Bbu, to be, conjugated in the active source, with the regular admission of the augment दृद्, is the first in the catalogue of verbs.

Existence here signifies, say grammarians, the fell support of something already produced for a thing passes through six sties, at its born or produced, it exists, it grows, it arrives at maturity, it decays, it penshes. To be, and to do, denote the aktion in general, and are included in the import of other verbs, which indicate some particular action. Accordingly 21, 37 H and 37 are used as auxiliants, in the remotely past tense of certain verbs.

म् also signifes to attain (see 10th class), and, like most other verbs, is likewise used in many acceptations, besides that which is exhibited as its common and appropriate reasure, is हिमवतो गंगा प्रभवति the Ganges takes its source from the snowy mountain, मल्लाय प्रभवति the wrestler is able to struggle with a wrestler, गुगम्य प्रभवति he rules over the village. प्राम्भवति he overcomes others, उदमेव संभवति this is possible. स्याली नेड्लास्भवति the caldron contains the nee, श्मनुभवति se feels pressure. भ्रतिवास के देन sour of power and authority, पुत्रो भवति a son is producted. यहाँभवती भानुया and are created and surface.

In face soften es, the distance from the common acceptation of the verbis, generally, fact realways, indicated by one or more prepositions prefixed to the root. Grammarians do not, however, confiler the whole compound term as a verb, but the fample one off as the verb, and the preportion as an in course of a search impore. They defer an all queflion, whether the preportion must be add dit the indicated of the verb, or to the most of the body as an effect. 1 Present Tensz. This proceeds on an interpretation of the rule (Ch. 17 & iv. 3.), according to which a (agh) is invariably anrexed to 24 , before an affix of the remote and about past b ginning with a rowel. However, fince some reffrict that rule to H ending in 3, the somexing of a takes eff-ch, acco ding to them, only when the fiblituition of the gand or weldbe element is barred (Ch 19 fe 11. 2. 1 and Ch 16, § iv. 1). A preposition is joined to the verb, in the example here given; because the teciprocal passive is restricted to an action; which assects the object (Ch. 16, 6, 11, 3, 5). H, without a preposition, does not denote such an action; but INP Cock; for it signifies to subdue or overcome.

On the other hind, the optional permutation of the root before \(\frac{1}{12} \) &cc. as before \(\frac{1}{12} \), is refinded to one terminated by a vowel; and is not allowed, after one ending in a confinant (Ch. 17. § i. 7. and Ch. 19. § ii. 3.).

The impersonal newter passive is simular to the 3d person of the reciprocal passive.

In general, the reciprocal pattive is inflected like the fimple verb (Ch. 16. 5. if 3 5). VERBS OF THE FIRST CLASS.

THE themes (dhatu), or roots of verbs, are of fuch primary importance in the Sanfo it language, and there is fo much difagreement among ancient, as well as modern, grammulans, in legard to fome of them, that it has been judged necoffry to hake a careful collation of many different works, and, after affectining the most correct reading, to notice, in this and the following chapters, the sufcordant opinions recorded by the numerous authorities, which I are been confulted omitting, however, differences, that may be repeted to the inaccuracy of transcribers, but preferring other various readings, which, though erroneous, have been countenanced by high authority

The books, which have been collated for this purpose, are two catalogues of themes (dhitup (1), varying a little in the arrangement, one copy of Matterials, and to of Madifiance or inther Sarahas exposition (writte) of the dhatus, two copies of Vorade's a's catalogue of roots,

Other grammatical works, not containing complete and regular lists of the verbs, have been only occasionally consulted in collaring the themes.

The grammarians, whose opinions differ, are generally mentioned by name in Ma'n'hana's invaluable v ork. They are here cited, for the most part, on his authority; sometimes, on that of other compiles. Lattr' writers are quoted from Vopade'va's commentator.

I This verb, joined with the preposition आई, prolongs the vowel, when a mute श follows (Ch. 19 § 11 2) Ex. आचामति. It permates the penult before चिण्. Ex. आचामि. Not so, with other prepositions Ex विस्मति. पर्यचिम. The verb सम, though ending in आम, 38 not diffunguished by a mute म. (Ch. 22. § 2. 111 5).
§ This is one of the verbs, which optionally admit either श्येन or श्रिप् (Ch. 16. § 11. 7. 1.).

It prolongs the vowel in the active voice (Ch. 19 §, 11 27), but not in the middle, nor in the paffice. However, Vo'rade's a, who interprets it, [1] "to go,' makes its coincel fhort (Ex.] [2], against the opinion of other author. The simple verb is, in general, optionally deponent, but indipensibly fo, when unobstructed progress, clientful perfectance, or successive growth, is signified. In these acceptations, it is deponent in conjunction with the prepositions of and [2], but not so, with other prepositions, nor with those two, in other acceptations is in deponent likewise, in conjunction with [2], signifying the insing of a star or planet (and here the verb is intrassitive, according to Caynar'a). The same is deponent also, with the preposition [2], provided it signify to pace, or with [2] or [3] the styronymously, to maik the commencement of an act, not variability, as, for example, to signify departure or approach

When the verb thus becomes deponent, as also in the passive voice, and in other instances, where the residence of the control of the voice of the passive voice, and in other instances, where the residence of the passive voice and had between [Ch. 17]. However, grammarians contest this unqualisted conclusion, for reasons explained by Harranatta, and some of them, in certain instances, admit, while others again require, the prefix before residence assists. At all events, the 2d sing of the remote passive assists and assistance of the remote passive voice, and the prefix before the verb does, without question, admit that prefix, before TIPA, in the assistance voice.

Others, as Ma'd nava observes, extend that signification to the preceding verb also Accordingly Voladeva exhibits both these roots (可以 and 제辺) with both interpretations. He adds a variation of the last root, 可以, with the simple acceptation of [打計] to go'. Some vocabulaties likewise insert 먹고; but this is omitted by Maitrela and the rest, as remarked by Ma'd nava.

• VO PADE VA states this root with a long, as well as a front, wowel, besides the similar verb of the 4th class See \(\frac{1}{3} \) \(\frac{1}{3} \) 4th cl \(\frac{1}{3} \) His commentator endeavours to justify the distinction. The import is explained by him as in another instance of the same term (61)

† The elementary initial is here retained (Ch 18 § 11 I]), and the vowel becomes long, when an affix, containing a mute [], is subjoined (Ch 19 § 11 2) Being the penullimate of a crude verb ending in [], it also becomes long, when a conformant follows (Ch 4 § 11 9)

‡ According to the Frith, the second radical is originally either 2 or 3; and Ma'o HAVA cress the authority of commentators to show, that both are correct, as supposed to have been thus taught by the earliest grammanian to his pupils

I Since the root is term nated by $\frac{2}{4}$, the use of the prefix $\frac{2}{2}$ is optional (Ch. 17. § 1. 3) before $\frac{2}{4}$. When, therefore, it is not employed, the final $\frac{2}{4}$ is connectible (see Districtions of Participles (Se.), into $\frac{2}{3}$ ($\frac{2}{4}$) before $\frac{2}{4}$ filthworly containing a muse $\frac{2}{4}$ (Ch. 16. § iv 2.) and, the radical towel $\frac{2}{4}$ being consequently permuted with the semisconfunction of the proof libibility and reduplication, is deduced from the vowel substituted for the final consonant. The Charactus form of the intensive is madmilible. See xiii. 26 a note.

Durca'da sa adds another interpretation, (खीकाइंड) 'acceptance or appropriation, with a transitive import. In conjunction with the prepositions वि and परा, the verb becomes deponent Ex विजयते. पराजयते.
